Pallas Completes Major Soviet Era Data Digitisation Project Across Kazakhstan

- Pallas has completed the digitization of several Soviet Era datasets capturing >140,000 points and >315,000 datum in the process.
- This newly digitized data has resulted in the identification of hundreds of additional targets across multiple commodities.
- The process continues to highlight the enormous greenfields discovery potential, particularly given explorers' focus on historic Soviet Era projects at the expense of grassroots opportunities.
